GRAPE

Furmint

One of the three principle white grapes that are used in producing Tokaji. Originally used in producing the sweeter styles it can also be used to make delectable dry white wines. It is one of the most widely planted varieties in Hungary and produces concentrated, high acid white wines with flavours... Read More

TASTING NOTES

Zsirai Winery Tokaji Kozephegy Furmint 2018. Full bodied and rich with plenty of fresh stone fruit, white peach and hints of blossom. Long finish with ageing potential. On the nose pear, quince, typical furmint. The palate is very concentrated. The terroir gives a very expressive minerality. Elegant, a real individuality from the Kozephegy vineyard in Mad, the heart of the Tokaji wine region.
