TASTING NOTES

Its translucent golden topaz yellow color introduces a sweet bouquet of aromas, a mixture of candied fruit and quince fruit, honey, saltish and iodate notes, loquat, but there is also a touch of spiciness, a breath of pepper, sultanas and licorice root. It has a complex but complete and well-defined flavour profile wit great sapidity and wonderful freshness. Not excessively sweet and with an intense persistence which leads to a long almond finish.

Food Matches

Almond tart, Chocolate fondue & Blue and mature cheeses

REGION

Marche

Marche was long kept from realizing its full potential as a premium wine-growing area by poverty and geography; even with the relative prosperity of recent decades and the improvements in communication lines, Marche is still off the beaten track, but it has been recognised as the New Tuscany. The ar... Read More

GRAPE

Verdicchio

Verdicchio is one of Italy's classic white grape varieties, responsible for the much-vaunted Verdicchios - di Matelica and Castelli dei Jesi. Less famously, it is also often used as a high quality component for many Italian white blends from regions such as Marche and Umbria, to name just two. It ha... Read More
