REGION

Abruzzo

Abruzzo is a mountainous region in central Italy, with a significant Adriatic coastline. It is Italy's fifth most significant wine-producing region by volume. Like much of Italy, the region enjoys a warm climate and this is combined with an extensive variety of favourable, hillside sites that stretch across the region. Read More

GRAPE

Montepulciano

Montepulciano is a high quality, vigorous red grape variety native to central Italy. It should not be confused with the wine known as Vino Nobile di Montepulciano, which is named for town of its origin and made from an entirely different variety. Wines made from the variety are typically deep in color. Read More

TASTING NOTES

Citra ChiChiBio Montepulciano d'Abruzzo 2024. The grapes are organically grown on 30-year-old vines in Abruzzo. This Montepulciano is all about preserving freshness, meaning it is aged for a short period in stainless steel tanks. The result is a purity of fruit bountiful with flavours of black plum, sour red cherry and freshly picked thyme with a smoky and spiced finish.

Food Matches

Pecorino Cheese, Lamb Souvlaki & Beef Brisket
