REGION

Veneto

The Veneto is an extremely important region in the north-east of Italy, stretching from the west at the shores of Lake Garda as far north as the Alps, the Austrian border and the Venetian hinterland. It is Italy's largest wine-producing region. DOC wines represent well over a quarter of total produc... Read More

GRAPE

Corvina

Corvina is the most important varietal in the Valpolicella appellation, with its famous sour-cherry character, as well as good body and structure. Thick skins means it can be air-dried in the traditional appassimento style, making it suitable for use in the prestigious Amarone della Valpolicella wine... Read More

TASTING NOTES

Cantina di Castelnovo del Garda Amarone 2022. Garnet red in colour, this full-bodied Amarone is intense and etheric on the nose with scents of sour cherries in brandy. The palate is velvety, strong and harmonious with dark chocolate, blackberry and a hint of cedar to follow.
