REGION

Veneto

The Veneto is an extremely important region in the north-east of Italy, stretching from the west at the shores of Lake Garda as far north as the Alps, the Austrian border and the Venetian hinterland. It is Italy's largest wine-producing region. DOC wines represent well over a quarter of total produc... Read More

GRAPE

Corvina

Corvina is the most important varietal in the Valpolicella appellation, with its famous sour-cherry character, as well as good body and structure. Thick skins means it can be air-dried in the traditional appassimento style, making it suitable for use in the prestigious Amarone della Valpolicella wine... Read More

TASTING NOTES

Bussola Tommaso Valpolicella Classico 2023. This is a light Italian red vinified in stainless steel to preserve freshness, with a short maturation of 4-6 months in steel tanks before bottling. Aromas of red cherry, violet, and subtle spice lead to a light, juicy palate with soft tannins.
